3. What is a Complaint?

Definition

“Any oral or written expression of dissatisfaction whether justified or not, from, or on behalf of, a person about the provision of, or failure to provide, a financial service, which alleges the complainant has suffered (or may suffer) financial loss, material distress, or material inconvenience”.

A complaint can constitute one of the following elements which subsides after being considered and treated at a competent operational level to enable a decision:

- A reproach against BMS Group or one of its staff members
- The notification of a potential or real financial loss, material distress or inconvenience that a client has suffered or could suffer.
- A request for prompt corrective action

Generally, a notification of complaint is provided by a phone call, written letter, an email or other form of communication. A manifestation of a dissatisfaction on the part of a client, when the latter is settled in the normal course of business activities, does not constitute a complaint but will need to be managed appropriately.

4. Complaints Handling Procedure

When a complaint is received we agree to send an acknowledgement of receipt to the complainant within a period of not exceeding 5 business days and accompanied by the notice.

A root cause analysis is undertaken to establish what occurred and importantly how the matter might be prevented from being repeated. This review will follow the agreed timescales

The member of staff in question, for which the complaint was made against, will receive notification, details of person who is handling the complaint, the expected timeline for the processing of the complaint, information relating to the services offered by BMS and the notice to the person who filed the complaint.

Key Timescales

Acknowledge - within 5 working days, i.e. client informed it is being dealt with.

Investigation - complete within 4 weeks or if not resolved ...

Extend investigation - within 8 weeks, client kept informed

Final response - Confirm in writing to provide a final closure of the complaint, with redress if appropriate. Ideally after 4 weeks, extending to 8 if a complex matter.

BMS Canada has a local Complaints register that we maintain for complaints raised within the business.

For each complaint received, BMS will maintain a log of the complaint, which will include:

- the name of the complainant
- the name of the member of staff in question
- the nature of the complaint
- the pertinent information concerning the complaint, including the source of the information, the date the complaint was received, the result of the complaint and the date the complaint was closed and any redress..

Escalation

Complaints should be dealt with by a nominated complaints handler who is independent of the initial issue.

First escalation point is the ExCo individual in your line of management, as soon as possible after identification.

Final escalation is to Principal Broker, BMS Canada – including any offers of compensation by way of redress.

In the event that a satisfactory solution is not received by the client, we will recommend that the client address their complaint directly to the insurance company or other pertinent organization. BMS will then ensure close collaboration with this organisation in order find a solution that is satisfactory to the client.
